West Germany's New Constitution Ratified

Eighth State Okays Charter 153 To 38

Frankfurt, Germany, May 20.—(AP)—West Germany's new constitution, uniting 11 states in a federal republic, was ratified tonight.

The deciding vote was cast by the state parliament of north Rhine-Westphalia, which approved the constitution 153 to 38 in Duesseldorf after a day-long debate interrupted frequently by communist demonstrations in the gallery.

North Rhine-Westphalia was the eighth of the 11 states, which make up the occupation zones of the United States, Britain and France, to endorse the charter. Approval by two-thirds of the states was required to make the constitution effective.

Only Bavaria Dissents
Only one state, traditionally independent Bavaria, voted against the charter, and its legislators agreed Bavaria would join the republic if the other 10 states decided to do so.

A ninth vote of endorsement came tonight from the legislature of the American-occupied area of Bremen. The count was 77 to nine, with communists and deputies of the Rightist German party in opposition.

The only state yet to vote is Weurtenberg-Hohenzollern, in the French zone. Its approval is expected tomorrow.

The convention which wrote the constitution will reassemble at Bonn next Monday and proclaim its adoption. Parliamentary elections will follow and a West German government is due to be set up at Bonn by mid-July.

Strengthened West
Adoption of the constitution, opposed from the first by the communists of both western Germany and the Soviet zone, strengthens the hands of the western foreign ministers for the four-power conference on Germany to open in Paris Monday. The rival Soviet zone regime is a people's congress which purports to speak for all Germany.

The new government is to be modeled along British and American lines. It leaves considerable authority to the states, as in the United States. But its chief executive will be a chancellor with powers much like those of the British prime minister. The president will have little authority.

Laws will be made by a parliament of two houses, one elected by the people and the other chosen by state parliaments.

Acheson Takes Off For Paris And Big 4 Ministers Meet

Washington, May 20.—(P)—With a friendly "good luck" from President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson took off for Paris today to find out whether Russia is willing to settle the future of Germany on western terms.

As he departed, officials here were unsure whether the big four foreign ministers conference, opening Monday, would:

(1) Turn into another East-West propaganda battle or (2) open a new and unprecedented period of agreement between the Soviet Union and the West.

There was some hopeful speculation that Russia, having run into powerful resistance to communism on the part of the western nations, might be prepared to make a general diplomatic retreat and thus ease tensions in the cold war.

Russians Do Not Put Traffic Bars Back On Autobahn

Berlin, May 20.—(P)—The Russians allowed West German truck traffic to flow along the Autobahn from Helmstedt to Berlin without the forecast interruptions today. Simultaneously four-power talks on economic questions proceeded more smoothly than they have for several days.

The change in the Soviet attitude on road traffic came as a surprise to western authorities.

First the Russians at Helmstedt had stopped all Berlin-bound freight which did not carry a Soviet zone permit.

Then yesterday they opened the Autobahn. They said the back log of traffic could come through and then the bars would go up again. By their own statements it was expected that the restrictions would be reimposed today, but they were not. The Autobahn is the main road and shortest one (100 miles) across Soviet territory between Berlin and western Germany.

Some American transport officials said they thought the Russians might continue to be cooperative.

Ferguson Accuses AEC Of Employing Reds

Washington, May 20.—(P)—Senator Ferguson (R-Ill.) accused the Atomic Energy commission today of keeping "loyalty suspects" under cover" on AEC payroll for over 10 months.

Ferguson fired the accusations point-blank at AEC Chairman David E. Lilienthal at a stormy hearing of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

The Senate investigation was touched off by a disclosure that a communist, Hans Freistadt, had been granted a fellowship under the AEC's multi-million-dollar student aid program.

Lilienthal, whose own appointment to head the nation's atomic development program was bitterly attacked in the Senate before he finally was confirmed, acknowledged that questions have been raised about the loyalty of "maybe as many as three" of the 500 persons who have been awarded AEC scholarships.

Lilienthal has been answering senators' pointed questions for two days. He was called in connection with the atomic commission's request for $1,090,000,000 operating money next year.

Under questioning by Senator Wherry (R-Neb.), the AEC chairman confirmed that a young Boston medical student researcher, Dr. Isidor S. Edelman, holds a $3,750-a-year atomic fellowship although he has been denied clearance for secret work on security grounds.

The committee promptly announced it will call Edelman to testify Tuesday morning.

Lilienthal said Edelman is not working on atomic secrets, and has denied that he is a communist.

But he went on to say that an FBI check has turned up "derogatory information" about Edelman—which he refused to divulge—and it was decided that Edelman should not be allowed to work where he would have contact with AEC employees who do have access to secrets.

States Teachers Should Help Young See Set Of Values
Champaign, Ill., May 20.—(P)—An educator said today that professional schools should help each of their students "toward the development of a set of values."

Speaking at the dedication of a new electrical engineering building at the University of Illinois, Robert E. Doherty, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, said:

"I have no fear of the conclusions which professional men, thus educated, would reach. x x x

"What I do fear is a teacher or an administrator that insists on telling the student, in a partisan spirit, what the answers are—or what the teachers think the answers are."

"What is needed in America," he said, "is intellectual toughness, born of intellectual struggle, and resting upon a foundation of values built during that struggle."

6 Armed Convicts Overpower Guards And Escape Prison

Milledgeville, Pa., May 20.—(P)—Six armed and dangerous convicts overpowered their guards here today and escaped in a blaze of gunfire.

One guard was shot and wounded. Four others were trussed up by the prisoners who fled the scene in a pickup truck after taking the guards' automatic shotguns and revolvers.

The convicts quickly abandoned the truck and seized a car driven by the Reverend J. P. McCluney, a Baptist minister. Five of the convicts sped from Milledgeville in the preacher's car. A sixth was being pursued on foot in the vicinity.

The men, described by the state patrol as "highly dangerous," had been brought from the state prison at Reidsville for work on a farm operated for the state hospital for the insane at Milledgeville. All were serving long terms.

Prison officials and police rounded up a posse of about 50 men. The state patrol ordered all available officers and men on duty, and threw up roadblocks on all highways and roads leading out of Milledgeville.

Three Vets Jailed Under Law As Old As War Of 1812

Rutland, Vt., May 20.—(P)—Three soldiers who helped make V-E Day a reality languished in Vermont jails tonight under a law as old as the War of 1812—because they are unable to meet judgments in civil actions.

All three cases are based on automobile accidents. Two of the combat veterans were not arrested or charged with criminal offense. The third paid a $25 fine, on a plea of guilty to careless and negligent driving, before he was jailed in a dramatic action.

The latter, Frederick L. Lapan, 34, of Marshfield, was jailed May 2 when unable to pay a $450 judgment. His wife and three children are receiving public support.

The two other veterans are Bernard J. Smith, 23, of Fair Haven, and Ralph J. Fugatt, former Springfield, Mass., newspaperman, both of whom were jailed in lieu of judgments exceeding $2,000 each.

Fugatt's attorney, Edward J. Shea, said his client's wife and infant son were subsisting largely on an allowance he receives for 40 per cent wartime disability.

VICE PRESIDENT DIES
Boone, Ia., May 20.—(P)—Fred W. Steele, 72, vice president of the Fort Dodge, Des Moines and Southern Railroad company, died today at his home here.

Huge Fires Rage Near Shanghai Waterfront

Shanghai, May 20.—(P)—Huge fires raged tonight east of the Whangpoo river in the Pootung waterfront district of Red-besieged Shanghai.

Apparently set by shelling and nationalist defensive demolitions, the fearsome chain of fires—this correspondent counted 26—stretched from industrial installations a few hundred feet from the river bank northward halfway to the mouth of the Whangpoo. (This would be a distance of about five miles.)

Otherwise Shanghai was comparatively quiet. A little shellfire and some machine gun bursts were audibly along the waterfront on both sides of the river, but it appeared to be due to troop nervousness rather than fighting.

The communists did not appear to be pressing their drive towards the Whangpoo from the east. Nor was there any sign of the Reds who had hammered the western and southwestern defenses intermittently for ten days.

A government garrison communiqué said the Reds had tried eight times during the day to take the Lihuang radio transmitter on the northwest, eight miles from the Shanghai north railway station, but were beaten off each time.

The government radio administration said it still was using the transmitter but was moving some equipment into the city.

The garrison said all Red attacks on the Pootung side also had been thrown back.

Shanghai still bubbled with all sorts of rumors, but what had looked like signs of nationalist withdrawal Thursday night appeared less so Friday night.

Nationalist troops who had abandoned the elaborate defenses on the southwest were replaced later by others. (Another dispatch intimated that the replacements were not numerous, however.)

Violent Struggle With Hattman Is Told By Rutledge

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 20.—(P)—The story of a violent hotel room battle fought "in self-defense to save my own life" was told today by Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr., of St. Louis before a tense courtroom.

He said Byron C. Hattman, for whose death last Dec. 14 he is charged with murder, came at him with a knife before the struggle reached its tragic climax.

With his attorney he re-enacted his version of the struggle in which Hattman was fatally stabbed.

Dr. Rutledge said he came to Cedar Rapids to try and pay Hattman off. He testified Hattman had seduced Mrs. Rutledge against her will and demanded $2,000 to leave her alone.

The doctor said he went into Hattman's hotel room—729 of the Roosevelt hotel—unarmed and with no thought of a fight.

He said he told Hattman he couldn't "raise the money you want, not at this time" and Hattman called him a "son of a bitch" and remarked "your wife can get it."

Then, Dr. Rutledge said, Hattman swung at him and a bloody fight began.

Washington, May 20.—(P)—The CIO has shoved the leaders of its left-wing minority toward an outright break with the parent organization, and more shoves are coming.

This is the meaning of the three-day meeting of the 52-man CIO executive board which ended last night with the board's demand for the resignations of all its members who won't abide by official CIO policies.

Nobly resigned.

CIO President Philip Murray publicly announced that the CIO is facing up to "a communist situation" which must be dealt with at the CIO convention starting Oct. 31 in Cleveland.

Murray pointed out to newsmen that the convention has power to revoke union charters and knock members off the 52-man CIO executive board.

There are 11 unions in the left-wing group that has been opposing Murray's leadership and CIO policies. Only six of them were represented in the meeting when last night's resolution was adopted by a 29-6 vote. The six representatives were announced as follows:

Harry Bridges of the Longshoremen; Donald Henderson of the Food and Tobacco Workers; Joseph Selby of the American Communications Association; Hugh Bryson of the Marine Cooks; Abram Flaxer of the Public Workers; and James Durkin of the Office and Professional Workers.

U.S. Rejects Russian Peace Move In Greece

Peace Talks At Ford Plant Near Collapse

Detroit, May 20.—(P)—Peace talks between the Ford Motor company and the United Auto Workers (CIO) in the 16-day-old Ford strike stood on the verge of collapse today.

Threatening the talks on the very day the federal government put a mediator on the scene was a heated dispute over starting time for negotiations on a new union contract to replace the one which expires next July 15.

The company, with 102,000 production workers idle in the 16-day old strike, refused to agree to contract talks during the strike, specifically not before June 1.

The union demanded that Ford agree to begin contract talks by next Monday. Otherwise, UAW president Walter Reuther threatened to pull the union negotiating team out of the strike talks.

Further, Reuther declared in a statement that the union would file unfair labor practice charges against Ford if the company doesn't open contract discussions by Monday.

Approximately 65,000 Ford workers at the company's Rouge and Lincoln-Mercury plants here walked out May 5, charging that Ford had stepped up the speed of assembly lines to the detriment of workers' health and safety. The company denied the charge.

After more than five hours of discussion today, negotiators took a recess until tomorrow at 10 a.m. There was no statement by either side as the meeting broke up.

In the liveliest session since direct peace negotiations opened 10 days ago, each side pointed the blame for possible break-off of peace relations at the other.

John S. Bugas, Ford vice president, declared that if the strike talks are broken off "it will be strictly the union's responsibility."

Reuther replied that responsibility for such a threatened end to the peace talks "rests squarely on the shoulders of the company."

Cousin Identifies Teen Age Youth Who Lost Memory

Crown Point, Ind., May 20.—(P)—A teen age boy who said he wasn't sure about his name was identified today by Mrs. Alice Walker of Chicago as her cousin, Donald Simske.

Walter Hammond, lake county probation officer, said Mrs. Walker told him of the boy's background.

She said the boy is 14 years old. She had been caring for him after the separation of his parents, but had placed him in a Chicago parental home. He disappeared last February.

Hammond said the boy would be returned to the Chicago home.

Mrs. Walker came here after seeing newspaper pictures of the boy yesterday. The boy said he had been wandering about the country for several years.

Churchill Attacks British Socialism As Communism

Glasgow, Scotland, May 20.—(P)—Winston Churchill charged tonight that the logical end of British socialism is a communist-like state and declared: "Socialism has never succeeded anywhere in the world."

Britain's wartime prime minister made a bitter attack on the Labor (Socialist) party and its policies of state ownership in a political speech at the Brixton Park soccer stadium.

Churchill accused Labor party leaders of having "denied and reviled the capitalist economic system of the United States."

"But they are living on them and begging from them while at the same time they abuse them," the Conservative party leader said.

"It must occur to sensible people to ask themselves how it is, if this American system is so wrong, that the American democracy of 140,000,000 hard working people are able to keep themselves at a far higher standard of life than we are and are able to lend us a helping hand and give us so much aid and bear so large a part of our burden."

Child Of Woman Injured In Crash Is Dead At Birth

Beloit, Wis., May 20.—(P)—A Harvard, Ill., woman unconscious for six days following an automobile accident in which her husband was killed gave birth to a child yesterday. The child was born dead.

The woman, Mrs. Loretta Baader, 22, remained in a critical condition today. Her husband, De Vere, 27, was killed Sunday when his car collided with another machine near Clinton, Wis.

Four other persons hurt in the crash also are in the hospital. One of them, Paul Edwards, 40, Belvidere, Ill., is in a critical condition. Others still hospitalized are James Pratt, 29, Donald Dittbenner, 29, and Louis Ohlsen, 27, all of Belvidere.

Fort Pierce, Fla., May 20.—(P)—A fish caught a man. The man got away.

O. G. Hill hooked a big Jewish fish while angling from a bridge. The fish pulled hard on the line, then let up for a moment. But it was a fishy trick, for he came back with a mighty jerk.

Tells Soviets To Call Off Balkan States

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—A Russian feeler for a big power conference to settle the Greek civil war was firmly rejected today by the United States and Britain.

Moscow was told in effect: Call off your Balkan satellites which have been helping the Greek guerrillas and we'll talk business—within the United Nations.

The U. S. state department coldly charged that Russia has been "lending encouragement to the illegal operations which have disturbed the peace."

No More Behind Greeks' Back
Britain told the Soviets there won't be any negotiations "behind the back of the Greek government."

Greek Ambassador Vassili C. Den-dramis declared after a visit at the state department:

"There is one condition for peace—that the rebels lay down their arms."

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, set off a flurry about possible peace in Greece by announcing that Russia had presented a conditional settlement plan to the U. S. and Britain.

London, followed quickly by Washington, put out the western versions of the informal and somewhat vague talks on which the Tass account was founded.

The American statement made it clear that as long as Greece's northern neighbors keep helping the guerrillas, the United States is going to keep pouring in help to the Athens government.

Would Welcome Effort
"We would, however, welcome a bona fide effort by the Soviet Union to remove the threat to the peace and security of the Greek people," the state department said.

The British foreign office said that during Russia's informal feeler talks in New York Hector McNeil, the British minister of state, had told Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that "the hostilities would soon cease if the northern neighbors of Greece stopped giving aid and shelter to the rebels."

Dean Rusk, assistant secretary of state, took part in the conversation for this country. He got even more specific, telling Gromyko that the main issue was the illegal activities of Albania and Bulgaria.

Gromyko set several conditions for a settlement, including the withdrawal of all foreign military assistance from Greece. He said Russia would be willing to take part with the great powers in supervising a new Greek election, and to join those powers in setting up a commission to "control" Greece's northern frontier.

The state department said Rusk told Gromyko the main issue still was the illegal furnishing of assistance to the rebels and that the United Nations was the proper forum for the discussion of that problem.

Illinois Women's Clubs Support Tax Free Yellow Oleo

Chicago, May 20.—(P)—The Illinois Federation of Women's clubs today reaffirmed its support of tax-free yellow oleomargarine.

The federation called for the immediate repeal of the federal margarine law taxing oleo. It also asked repeal of the provisions of the Illinois law which now prohibits the retail sale of yellow margarine.

"More and more individual letters are being received from Illinois," Mrs. Robert F. Webster told 1,700 delegates to the federation's 53rd annual convention.

Mrs. Webster, of Chicago, the federation's legislative chairman, urged the delegates to ask Sen. Scott W. Lucas (D-Ill.) to push repeal of the federal oleo law. The bill passed the House in April but has not been called up for consideration by the Senate.

The convention ended today.

RECOGNIZING FRANCO NEED NOT MEAN ERP FUNDS FOR SPAIN

The American government's Spanish policy, says Senator Taft, seems to have been guided by a "Communist-front philosophy." That accusation does not seem very fair or very accurate. It is no more "Communist-front" than that of any other government that has abided by the UN resolution of 1946 to withdraw ambassadors from Madrid.

Perhaps the resolution was unwise. Certainly it was unsuccessful. As Secretary of State Acheson admits, the withdrawal of recognition did not effect any reforms in the Franco government. But the resolution is still in force. It is hard to see how this government could help the United Nations or itself by leading a fight to repeal it.

It really does not seem to matter too much whether we do or don't have diplomatic relations with Spain. The main function of a diplomatic mission is to look out for the interests of its own country both public and private. In another country whose government is legally constituted.

Recognition does not imply approval of the anti-resolution people have so often pointed out. We maintain normal relations with Russia and with other governments whose practices we do not like. And Franco's government is probably as legally constituted as the Communists' is in Russia. Each got to the top through military victory, and neither has given its people a chance to express their free feelings about its continuance.

The trouble is that Senator Taft and others can't seem to think or talk about sending an ambassador back to Madrid without going ahead with arguments in favor of cutting Franco in on European aid and including him in the North Atlantic alliance. One would think, to hear them talk that Spain's friendship in the event of war would be about the most important military asset that we could possess.

Aid for Franco and an alliance with him are not logical consequences of recognition. They are quite separate and distinct from it. If we should recognize Spain as we recognize Russia, without approving either type of government, that ought to make things even. Why spend millions on Franco and clasp him to our bosom simply because he's against communism? Hitler and Mussolini were against communism, too.

The United States can't do anything, short of war, to restore individual, political and religious freedom to the Russian people, to free them from the threat of physical terrorism and the yoke of intellectual enslavement. But that is no reason why we must ignore a similar catalog of tyrannies in Spain. That is no reason why we must strengthen the government that perpetuates those tyrannies.

Mr. Acheson realistically says that the United States and western Europe have never insisted that "Spain, which has never been a full-flowered democracy, must become so." But he does think that the Spanish people must be made to realize that they cannot be accepted back "into the family of western Europe" unless they take some steps to liberalize their government. And he thinks that this country and western Europe should do what they can to assist the Spanish people toward that end.

This is the policy which some people call inconsistent, and others call sentimental. But it can also be called idealistic—the word for a force which we hope has not been permanently exiled from diplomatic thought.

Mayors Hopeful State Will Vote Funds To Cities

Members of the executive committee of the Illinois Municipal League are optimistic over the prospects for state financial assistance to cities, according to Mayor Ernest L. Hoagland, who returned Thursday night from Chicago where he attended a quarterly meeting of the committee. Hoagland is first vice president of the league, with which more than 900 towns are affiliated.

He talked with mayors and other officials of a number of cities, all of whom believe that one or more bills now before the Illinois legislature, designed to provide state-aid to cities, will be enacted into law within a short time. Many cities are up against the wall financially, and their officials are looking forward to state funds to relieve the situation.

Mayor Hedrick of Decatur, president of the league, presided at the executive committee session at the Morrison hotel.

TO WATCH DIET OF 3 YEAR OLD WHO ATE STAPLE

The diet of three-year-old Charles Darwent, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Darwent, 1237 South East street, will be more closely supervised henceforth, restricting such undigestible items as staples and nails.

The new restrictions are the result of an incident which occurred at the drive-in operated by the youngster's father Thursday.

The child came in from play early in the afternoon and reported that he had swallowed a staple. He was rushed to Passavant hospital where numerous X-Rays were taken to locate it.

It was disclosed that the staple had not lodged in such a way as to place the child in danger. Additional treatment is underway.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

COPYRIGHT BY HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON. DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE INC.

THE STORY: Lily Warren's violent death has upset Speare Island's routine. Lily was found shot in a car of Henry Gough Harding's tuxedoed railway running to the store room. Ben Cosgrove tells no one that the gun on Lily's lap was one which Bea Cosgrove had snatched from her. Everyone has an alibi and unexpectedly Fred Sillwell says the gun was his—one that he had heard the outlying, his yacht which was shipwrecked near the island. Harding decides that Lily's death was suicide. Her motive was that Harding had told her that she had no chance to become his wife. Harding buries Lily Warren, refusing to hold any service at the grave.

XVII
MABEL JONES'S warning, "I'm a plain cook, nothing fancy," was justified by the meal she eventually prepared. There were great quantities of food, and all the dishes tasted the same.

Bea Cosgrove decided she might have done better to accept the house duties again instead of the care of the sheep. In the reshuffle of work, Agnes Firth put on the blue dress uniform of supplies, and Nona McGuire accepted the garden work because she liked her green costume.

"I've got a theory about gardening anyway," she announced. "I've always thought it'd be better to pull up the plants and leave the weeds."

Henry Harding ate slowly in frowning concentration. When he became conscious at last of the tasteless bits of food he was putting in his mouth, he swallowed quickly, pushed back his plate.

Fred Sillwell beat him to the punch. "You fixed the radio yet, Harding? Maybe you need some help. George's pretty good at radio work. Maybe we can fix it for you."

Harding's eyes wavered toward Mollie Stark who sat at table with them for the first time. He tried to regain control of the situation.

"That won't be necessary. I'm quite capable of making the minor repairs, given time. I'm glad you brought up your willingness to help. We have no room on Speare Island for sluggards."

"Look. There's something you might as well understand. We'll be tickled to death to get off the island. All you have to do to get rid of us is send a radio to my attorney in L.A. He'll send a boat or a plane. And I'll arrange to pay you for the trouble you've taken."

Fred underlined the words of the last sentence with a sneer.

Henry Harding controlled his anger. "It's possible a fishing boat may put in for water at any time. In a few days the radio will be fixed. In the meantime, for something to do, I thought you might be willing to help Miss McGuire in the garden."

SILLWELL grinned, relaxed. "I don't mind giving her a hand. George has plenty to do working over the cameras and equipment; we salvaged from the beach. Some of it can be saved. I'm perfectly willing to help out as long as we understand each other."

"Of course," Harding said. "I'm though," Mollie announced. "Want to go back to bed now?"

She smiled at Harding, lifted her arms toward him. "You carry me in."

He returned beaming. "A nice girl. A nice girl," he said heartily. "I believe we'll have to persuade her to stay on after the rest of you leave. She likes it here."

"We might persuade her to take Lily's place," Agnes Firth said brightly.

Henry Harding had been following the course of his own thoughts. "It is difficult for me to understand. I do not know the circumstances or the details."

Thanks to Mabel Jones, Bea knew what Harding meant. As she watched Sillwell's face she was positive he knew too. She tried to remember a time when Mollie might have talked with him alone. But whatever Fred knew, he was not going to help Harding. "Details of what?" Sillwell demanded.

Mabel Jones said flatly. "He means he doesn't understand about the four of you sailing around without a chaperon."

"Well, of course," Harding hedged. "It did just occur to me to wonder."

FRED SILLWELL was deeply shocked. He said so. "And I don't see how anyone would think a thing like that about little Mollie. Of course we were chaperoned."

"You mean someone was lost in the wreck?"

"Oh no. I'm speaking of present company. With an old married couple along, everything was quite proper." He nodded toward Nona McGuire.

"You mean you?"

"Oh no," Fred interrupted quickly. "I'm a bachelor myself. Nona and George're the happy couple."

"But I understood it was Miss McGuire," Harding said.

"There's no business like show business," Nona said.

"Naturally she kept her own name for professional reasons," Fred put in smoothly.

"They told me," Nona said dreamily. "that Nona Bascombe sounded like a brand of dog biscuit."

George smiled at her. "While Nona McGuire is so much more definitive. And there's always her reputation, her career to consider."

"I understand," Harding said. "I'm glad you told me. But why didn't you tell me before? We could have made different living arrangements."

"Oh I like it, like this," Nona said quickly. "You see I'm mad at George."

Henry Harding had lost interest. He mumbled something about "patching up small differences," and changed the subject. "Miss Cosgrove, since the sheep are in the pen, perhaps you'll give Miss Firth a hand the rest of the afternoon. You can show her the routine. Come, there is much to do."

Local Delegates Attend Lutheran Synod Convention

The Illinois Synod of the United Lutheran church in America, of which Faith Lutheran church is a member, held its 30th annual convention at St. Paul's Lutheran church in Evanston, May 16-18. The Rev. Wilbur M. Allen and John M. Thompson were among the 300 delegates from Illinois and parts of Missouri and Wisconsin.

Among the important items of business transacted was the approval of the program to raise six million dollars for "Christian Higher Education Year" in 1950. The Illinois Synod voted to accept a quota of $272,000.00 as its share in this campaign. These funds will be used to strengthen and expand Carthage college at Carthage and the Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary at Maywood.

The displaced persons of Europe received special consideration. The convention voted continued cooperation with the United States government's DP program, setting as a goal that each congregation find a home for at least one DP family. Several churches of Synod already have DP families, one having applications for seven families and four single persons.

Emphasis was placed on the importance of laymen in the work of the church, when pastors and laymen voted unanimously to elect additional lay representatives to the executive board of Synod, leaving the "balance of power" in their hands.

The convention voted to endorse an extensive program of evangelism set up by the National Lutheran council. The program will take months of preparation and will be intensively pursued in the fall of 1950.

DeMolay Chapter To Celebrate 21st Year

The twenty-first anniversary of the DeMolay Chapter, Order of the DeMolay, will be celebrated on May 24.

Organized in 1928 under the sponsorship of Jacksonville Chapter No. 3, R.A.M., it was named Dr. Clampt Chapter, which was later extended to the present title when it came under the sponsorship of Hospitalier Commandry No. 31, Knight Templar, its present sponsoring Masonic body. Dr. Clampt died only two years before the chapter was organized, and it was the memory of his close friends in Masonry that prompted them to name the chapter for him.

The Mother's Circle of the Chapter will serve a banquet to the members, advisors, past DeMolays, and Masons interested in DeMolay Work on May 24th, starting promptly at 6:00 p.m. Reverend Clair Malcomson of the First Baptist Church will give the invocation. Reverend John Collins of the Centenary Methodist Church will be the main speaker of the banquet. Reservations may be made by calling 1218-Y or 2033-Z before Sunday noon, May 22nd.

Reginald Saner, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Saner, 471 East State street, was among the more than 1,000 Catholic students attending the sixth congress of the National Federation of Catholic College students, held at the Congress hotel in Chicago.

Mr. Saner, a student at St. Norbert's college in Green Bay, Wis., is regional vice president of the N.F.C.C.S. in Wisconsin.

The five-day convention was attended by students from Catholic colleges and universities throughout the entire nation.

The federation set as a national goal $500,000 for the purchase of books, clothing and food for needy students abroad.

Mrs. Foreman Is Named To Office By Women Voters

Chicago, May 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Maurice A. Pollak of Highland Park was elected president of the League of Women Voters of Illinois today.

Other officers named at the closing sessions of the league's 24th annual convention here are:

Mrs. Orville Foreman, Jacksonville; Mrs. Mark S. Massel, Glencoe, and Mrs. Harold E. Waller, Kewanee, all vice presidents.

Mrs. Granger Brown, Lake Forest, secretary; Mrs. Robert J. Phillips, St. Charles, treasurer; and Mrs. James Berry, Rockford, Mrs. George Carll, Rock Island, and Mrs. A. Thomas Cole, Urbana, all directors.

Earlier the league promised to support in the next general election the "gateway" amendment to the Illinois constitution. A league statement said in part:

"The convention kept as the league's main objective the calling of a constitutional convention, believing that citizens have the right to review their basic law as a whole. Since that method of revision was defeated by a narrow margin at this session of the legislature, the (league's) delegates agreed to cooperate in the effort to improve the present constitution."

The gateway amendment would simplify the machinery by which the state's constitution could be changed.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, May 20.—(AP)—Prices for live hogs were unevenly 25 cents higher to 25 cents lower today, while cattle and sheep were generally steady.

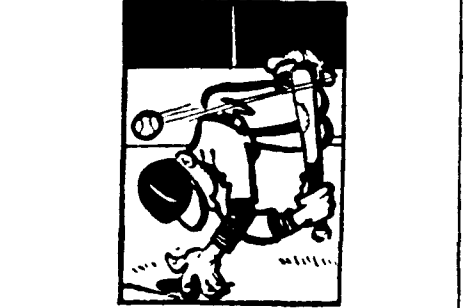

Barrows and gilts grading good and choice sold between $17.50 and $19.85, the top, and sows took $14.50 and up to $17.25.

With choice cattle absent, the scanty supply market had little but medium and good steers, heifers, and mixed yearlings at $23.00 to $25.50. Beef cows topped at $21.50, sausage bulls at $22.50, and vealers at $27.50. Included in the receipts were seven loads of feeder stock which did not go on sale.

Clipped lambs sold at $29.75 to local small killers, but these were only a short deck and the rest of the market was mostly odds and ends. Ewes continued to top at $13.50.

Included in the day's salable receipts were 4,500 hogs, 800 cattle, 200 calves, and 300 sheep.

Softball Tonight

Both the "A" and "B" league schedules were again knocked into a cocked hat last night. The south-side diamond was too muddy to withstand action, and, if old Sol doesn't get hot today the local gals may be forced into inactivity.

The Jay-Cee girls are carded to entertain the Granite City El-Bee Foods nine on the local sod at 9:30 p. m. The Jacksonville femmes were clipped twice by the G. C. team last year. Bert Lauder will twirl for the Jay-Cees with "Fid" Phillips doing the receiving. Their record to date stands at 2 wins and 0 losses.

The Stoners' Restaurant junior softball team will play host to the Litchfield Juniors in the preliminary event starting at 7:30 p. m. this evening.

New York Stock Market

New York, May 20.—(AP)—An attempt to recoup early losses made small headway in the stock market today.

Prices headed downward soon after the opening. A comeback started before noon but about the best to be said for it was that the widest declines were shaded.

Losses ranged from fractions to more than a point and were pretty well distributed through the list.

Only a moderate amount of business was done. Turnover proceeded at the rate of about 800,000 shares for the full session.

Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet all hit new 1949 lows during the day but at times showed signs of coming back.

Others lower most of the day included Chrysler, Studebaker, Goodrich, American Telephone (at low since 1943), General Electric, and Standard Oil (N.J.).

Among the staidier spots were J. C. Penney, National Dairy Products, Consolidated Edison, Lockheed, and Southern Pacific.

Corporate bonds tended to slip with stocks.

Alvin Marshall again topped the weekly rifle club match with a 375. He led his team to another intra-club win by a 1435 to 1394 count.

Notre Dame Hurler Spins No-Hitter, Beats Wildcats 6-1

Notre Dame twirler Timpe spun a no-hit ball game against the Winchester nine in the Chapin state district play-off to capture the tilt by a 6-1 count.

The big Quincy right hander had little trouble in setting down the Scott county boys. Winchester scored its single run in the second frame when Reg Hankins walked, and advanced to second, third and home on wild pitches.

The Notre Dame ball club, by virtue of its win at Chapin, will advance to meet the winner of the Canton district in the Canton sectional play-offs. If successful at Canton, they'll move to the state finals at Peoria in early June.

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Washington clustered six of its eight hits in the first three innings to night to defeat the St. Louis Browns 5-3, behind the 7-hit pitching of Sid Hudson.

Al Papi was the victim of the Senators' early assault. Singles by Ed Steward and Sherry Robertson, plus Clyde Vollmer's grounder, gave Washington a run in the first inning. Stewart's single with the bases filled scored two runs in the second and Hudson singled across two runs in the third.

St. Louis had the best times in both dash trials to edge out his arch rival, LaGrange's speedy sophomore, Jim Caffey. Sykes did the 100 in a creditable 9.9 over a heavy track, two-tenths of a second off the record.

He turned in 21.5 in the 220. Dick Goins of Hyde Park (Chicago) posted 50.4 in the 440 while Nast had the second best time of 51 flat.

While the Lyons township school was amassing team power, Oak Park's Chuck Hoag shot into the individual limelight with a record-shattering discus toss.

The 17-year-old senior, an all-star football and basketball player Dierkes, if ..... 4 2 and one of the most sought-after 1 prep by colleges, sailed the disc 158 feet 11 1/2 inches compared to a 1 previous record of 154-6 1/2 by Crystal Lake's Paul Behan in 1942.

Hoag, who bypassed baseball for 1 track, posted the record although it was only his fourth competitive attempt in the discus. This season is the first time the versatile, 190-pound athlete has gone out for track.

The defending discus champion, Bob Dlouhy of LaGrange, failed to place. Benton's John Bauer was second with 156-11, also a record-breaker.

Only other final event to be run off today was the broad jump. Bob Henard of Evanston won it with 22 feet 2 1/2 inches, far off the record 24 1/2. Chuck McClinton of Chicago's Hyde Park was second with 21-11 1/2.

LaGrange picked up one point towards a team title by taking a fifth place in the broad jump.

LaGrange, hoping to become the first school to repeat for the crown since Oak Park's sweep in 1937 and 1938, was geared for a good showing by placing men in the 440, 100, 220, two in the high jump, big hurdles and the shot. The Lions also have a potential 800-yard winning relay team which beat the state record in district trials a week ago.

Oak Park and Phillips of Chicago each gained four final berths to follow LaGrange in the number of qualifiers. Thus, northern Illinois appeared assured of maintaining its monopoly of the team title which has been unbroken since Danville and Elmhurst tied in 1925.

With Dlouhy eliminated from the discus, only two defending champions remained in the field for the finals. They are Leonard Sykes of Phillips in the 100 and 220 yards dashes, and Wayne Nast of Belleville in the 440.

LaGrange Qualifies 8 In State Prep Track Meet, Favored To Win

Champaign, Ill., May 20.—(AP)—LaGrange made a strong bid today to repeat for the Illinois state high school track championship by qualifying for eight places in tomorrow's finals.

With Dlouhy eliminated from the discus, only two defending champions remained in the field for the finals. They are Leonard Sykes of Phillips in the 100 and 220 yards dashes, and Wayne Nast of Belleville in the 440.

Sykes had the best times in both dash trials to edge out his arch rival, LaGrange's speedy sophomore, Jim Caffey. Sykes did the 100 in a creditable 9.9 over a heavy track, two-tenths of a second off the record.

He turned in 21.5 in the 220. Dick Goins of Hyde Park (Chicago) posted 50.4 in the 440 while Nast had the second best time of 51 flat.

While the Lyons township school was amassing team power, Oak Park's Chuck Hoag shot into the individual limelight with a record-shattering discus toss.

The 17-year-old senior, an all-star football and basketball player Dierkes, if ..... 4 2 and one of the most sought-after 1 prep by colleges, sailed the disc 158 feet 11 1/2 inches compared to a 1 previous record of 154-6 1/2 by Crystal Lake's Paul Behan in 1942.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: Strange undercurrents threaten the serenity of Henry Gough Harding's "New Eden" on Spear Island. Already one of the women candidates to become his bride has been murdered. The scene also is complicated by the shipwreck of a small yacht on the island. Harding is attracted by one of the shipwrecked party, Mollie Stark, but he is troubled by her presence on the yacht without proper chaperones. It is then that Mollie tells Harding that George Bascombe, his wife, and Nona McGuire are married and that Nona was her maiden name for stage purposes.

XVIII

"IT'S the same thing as getting back on a horse after he's thrown you," Bea insisted. "If I didn't ride that thing again I'd be scared of it the rest of my life."

"I can't see that it matters," Henry Harding said. "Get in, since you insist. Miss Firth can wait up here with me. There's no reason now to keep the whiskey down below." He selected a key from the ring, gave it to Miss Cosgrove. "When you get down, load the car, ring the signal button and I'll send Miss Firth down to help you."

"I wouldn't want to ride in that car," Agnes Firth said. "There's still blood on it." Bea climbed in the gondola. Harding had partially filled with broken rock and watched the simple operation which set the car in motion. And it was only a few seconds before the car moved over the lip to the steeper part of the incline so only the cable could be seen.

It could be done all right, Bea decided. Perhaps there was a pool of blood back in some room of the underground storehouse. Certainly there was not enough blood in the car itself. A shot could never have been heard in the tunnels. A hand truck would help. A body could be lifted into the gondola, a tug at the starting lever and Lilly Warren could have been sent down.

AND why had Fred Stillwell lied? He and George Bascombe too for that matter, had examined the automatic when they helped take Lilly's body from the car.

Whatever Fred's reason, Harding swallowed the tale. It fitted with what he wanted to believe.

If she should point out the fact everyone on the island could have killed Lilly Warren, she knew she could not point out a motive.

The car came to an abrupt stop. She leaped out, ran along the dock toward the storehouse, kicking off her shoes on the way. She hurried down steep stairs to the beach, returned to the water's edge to cross the 200-foot stretch of coarse sand to the 100-foot cliff on the other side of the cove.

A small wave whipped in, slapped viciously at her knees in a sudden deepening of water. She staggered seaward, went deeper. The water rushed back from the steep beach, tugging, pushing, trying to knock her completely off the balance. She leaned toward the land, swinging her arms.

Then in one instant she was free, could make the few steps which were the difference between a good chance of drowning and safety.

SHE reached the cliff, moved quickly along its base. She found no more recognizable footprints, but just above high tide mark a small pile of freshly dislodged rock ended her search. She looked upward. Far above a lighter spot on the cliff face told where the fragments had come from. Still further up, the flat moisture-filled leaves of a rock plant were crushed.

She retraced her steps back to the dock, realized the tide was coming in since half of the line of prints she'd made were gone. "A lucky break for me on the tide," she said aloud. "but I wouldn't care if it was going out. I'd rather leave footprints. Perhaps someone else felt that way too."

She unlocked the storehouse and began loading the car. Finally at last, she pushed the signal button. She returned at once to the storehouse.

Like the tunnels above under the main house, these rooms too were cut from the solid rock. In one large room, Bea found many drums of gasoline. Enough to run the generators for years to come.

The first scream came to her faintly. She hurried out the wooden entrance to the rock rooms. The screams were louder, more frantic.

The car had come down with Agnes Firth. She sat bolt upright, eyes shut. A falling hand hit the lever on the side. Her fingers gripped it. Bea yelled. "Don't pull that lever! Agnes!" She was close enough to see Miss Firth's white knuckles on the iron dump lever. It moved.

The downward end of the car dropped open. Agnes screamed again as she started sliding.

Bea caught her under the armpits, held her with legs dangling out over the seething water.

"Help yourself a little, Agnes," Bea panted. "Grab hold of the balance of the car. That's it. Pull up your legs and put one over the side of the car. Now roll, and lift yourself. I won't let you slide out!"

The two women stood on the dock, panting with their exertion. "Didn't Harding warn you about pulling that lever?" Bea demanded.

Agnes Firth shook her head. She was pale. Her whole body trembled. "I—I thought it wasn't going to stop! He didn't tell me anything but get in!"
